DETAILED ACTION

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-28, drawn to a multimedia content delivery system and process, comprising a first integrated circuit card and a second integrated circuit card, classified in class 705, subclass 26.
- II. Claims 29-48, drawn to a method and system in distributing electronic content to a terminal device, comprising the step of storing in a memory module tailoring information defining electronic content that is transferable to the terminal device, classified in class 705, subclass 26.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and I are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as storing in a memory module tailoring information defining electronic content. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

During a telephone conversation with James Dresser on August 27th, 2002 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-28. Applicant in replying to this Office action must make affirmation of this election. Claims 29-48 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Drawings

This application has been filed with informal drawings, which are acceptable for examination purposes only. The figures contain improper shading and crowded text which may affect clarity when reproduced.

Applicant is required to submit a formal correction of the noted defect. Applicant is required to submit drawing corrections promptly. Drawing objections may no longer be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ramachandran U.S. Patent No. 6,457,640 in view of Findley U.S. Patent No. 5,979,773.

Referring to claim 1. Ramachandran discloses a multimedia content delivery system, comprising

- A content provider having a plurality of multimedia files therein (abstract);
- An input device for selecting a multimedia file from the plurality of multimedia files (abstract, "16");
- An output device for selecting a multimedia file from the plurality of multimedia files (abstract, "18"); and
- A first integrated circuit card interface for receipt of a host integrated circuit card containing first authorization information (abstract, "20");

Ramachandran does not expressly disclose a system comprising:

- A second integrated circuit card interface for receipt of a user integrated circuit card containing second authorization information; and

Art Unit: 3625

- A control unit responsive to insertion into said second integrated circuit card interface of a user interface card containing second authorization information compatible with the first authorization information contained in a host integrated circuit card inserted in said first integrated circuit card interface, for actuating said output device to provide the content of a multimedia file selected by said input device.

Findley discloses a system comprising:

- A second integrated circuit card interface for receipt of a user integrated circuit card containing second authorization information (Fig. 1, "A"); and
- A control unit responsive to insertion into said second integrated circuit card interface of a user interface card containing second authorization information compatible with the first authorization information contained in a host integrated circuit card inserted in said first integrated circuit card interface, for actuating said output device to provide the content of a multimedia file selected by said input device (abstract).

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to have modified the method of Ramachandran to have included the system of Findley in order to provide an electronic data access and retrieval system for accessing and retrieving digital data information securely (Finley: column 5, lines 9-15).

Art Unit: 3625

Referring to claim 2. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system comprising a multimedia terminal having said content provider, said first integrated circuit card interface said control unit therein enclosed therein (Fig. 2).

Referring to claims 3-4. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system wherein said output device comprises an audio and video output device (column 7, lines 49-59).

Referring to claim 5. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system wherein said output device comprises a communication link permitting downloading of the selected multimedia file in electronic form (column 7, lines 49-59).

Referring to claim 6. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 5 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system wherein said communication link is a wireless communication link (column 4, lines 37-49).

Referring to claims 7-8. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system wherein said input device, said output device, and said control unit comprise a laptop computer and a wireless personal terminal (column 4, lines 37-49).

Referring to claim 9. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system wherein said content provider comprises a server (Fig. 1).

Referring to claim 10. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system wherein said content provider further comprises a mainframe computer coupled to said server (Fig. 1)

Referring to claim 11. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system comprising a server connected to said content provider (Fig. 1).

Referring to claim 12. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system comprising a mainframe computer connected to said server (Fig. 1).

Art Unit: 3625

Referring to claims 13-14. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system wherein said multimedia files comprise audio and video media (abstract).

Referring to claims 15-18. Ramachandran in view of Finley discloses a system according to claim 1 as indicated supra. Ramachandran further discloses a multimedia content delivery system wherein said video media comprises text, books, newspapers and games (column 6, lines 53-62).

Referring to claim 19. Claim 19 is rejected under the same rationale as set forth above in claim 1.
